

Botanique Wholesale Price List 2010

Sarracenia, Pitcher Plants — Our Specialty!

Sarracenia are a attention-grabbing perennials with gorgeous flowers and fascinating, beautiful foliage. Our best-selling item for retailers is an assortment of species and hybrids (our choice), all labeled, with care sheets: The Sarracenia assortment is available in 3 grades, all are large ½ to 1 gal. pot size. Special color forms and named hybrids (see page 2) are not included in the pricing below.

S. leucophylla, flowers above and pitchers below

#1 Dormant, bare-root. No foliage yet. Our lowest cost, large size Sarracenia. (Pot in 2–4 qt. pots.) Available only from Feb.–April. $8.00 each, plus shipping.

#2 Growing, bare-root. These are producing pitchers and/or flowers, buds etc. The weather influences crop availability, but these are usually available mid late May–Oct. (Pot in 2–4 qt. deep pots.) $9.00 each, plus shipping.

#3 Potted plants are usually available mid June–Oct. We use a 6 inch diameter, half gallon container (e.g. Classic 200) for most plants; wider pots are often used for rosette type growers. You must arrange Nursery pick-up or delivery (shipping is not cost effective). $9.00 each.

Calopogon. sp.*, Grass Pink, Bog Orchid.

Our best selling wildflower is also a native orchid. It's hardy to at least USDA zone 6. Bright pink flowers typically bloom during late May through June. The butterfly-shaped orchids are about 2 inches, on tall, thin stems. Buds start opening from the bottom of the spike, which can reach 12–16 inches tall.

The best pricing is on dormant corms (available Dec.–May), which can be potted in a 4-inch, square (or other similarly sized container). Refrigerating dormant corms, and potting them up on a staggered schedule, can increase the blooming period. Usually, 8–12 weeks is needed to get dormant/potted corms to bloom. Grow moist, in a peat/sand mix. Instructions sent with order.

Potted Plants are usually available. Due to the heavy, fragile nature of potted/growing plants, we do not recommend shipping potted Calopogon. Potted plants can be picked up at our nursery by appointment (see “Terms”) or can be delivered in the central, VA and surrounding areas.

Dormant corms are $4.50 each, shipped Dec.–May.

Potted Plants, available May–July, in 4 inch square pots are $6.00 each.

White flowered Calopogon are $10.00 each Sold out until Fall 2010.

Calopogon sp.

Special color forms, varieties, named hybrids and species not included in wholesale pricing due to very limited supply, slower growth rates or higher propagation costs.

Quality Statement

Botanique does not sell field collected plants. Prices reflect the fair value and the years it takes to produce top quality plants. Our plants are ready for retail sales and are vastly superior to puny discount sources which will take years to make a landscape or garden showpiece. Botanique's plants are big enough to grab the attention of customers passing by, landing additional sales. We offer types that simply are not available elsewhere because they were developed at Botanique.

There are over thirty years of growing expertise behind Botanique. We have been recognized nationally by many organizations as the premier source of Sarracenia.

If you are interested in custom assortments or single species of Sarracenia, please contact Rob to confirm availability and prices. Special orders should be made well in advance of requested delivery dates. Currently, we have the following Sarracenia species available at wholesale rates: S. alata, S. flava, S. leucophylla, S. purpurea, S. rubra ssp. wherryi, plus mixed hybrids. Contact Rob regarding availability and pricing of special color forms or selected varieties.
